Founded in 1998 by venture capital luminary, Bill Hambrecht, WR Hambrecht + Co is a financial services firm committed to using technology and auction processes to provide open and fair access to financial markets for all its clients. The WR Hambrecht team has led efforts to establish important JOBs Act provisions to expand capital formation options for smaller issuers. Barrie has over 20 years of experience in commercial banking, having served as President and CEO of Exchange Bank, a $1.7b community bank, and as a Senior Manager at Wells Fargo. Prior to joining WRH+CO, Barrie was President and CEO of hybridCore Homes, a disruptive start-up which incorporates modular factory and site built construction which dramatically reduces the time and cost of building single family homes. Barrie is a Board member of Empire Law School and numerous non- profits. He has a BS in Industrial Engineering from Clarkson University, an MBA in Finance from Golden Gate University and is a graduate of the Executive Management Program at Harvard and the Pacific Coast Banking School. Barrie is a former Marine Infantry Officer.

Paul Getty, Managing Director, Satwik Ventures
Based in Silicon Valley, Paul Getty is a Managing Director of Satwik Ventures, an advisory and investment firm focusing on late stage companies utilizing JOBs Act legislation to raise growth capital. Satwik Ventures has invested in 45 firms who have attracted over $1 Billion in additional growth capital resulting in IPOs and many M&A exits for investors. Paul also co-founded First Guardian Group (FGG) in 2003, a real estate investment and management firm focusing on the development, selection and management of over $800 million of commercial real estate offerings placed exclusively through securities broker-dealers. His prior operating experience spans over 25 years as a serial entrepreneur and executive officer in firms that resulted in investor returns of over $700 million through multiple successful IPOs and M&As. Mr. Getty is a licensed real estate broker and holds an MBA in Finance from the University of Michigan, graduating with honors, and a Bachelor's Degree in Chemistry and is currently completing a FINRA Series 79 license.

Douglas Rogers, Principal, Merriman Capital
Douglas Rogers is a 17-year veteran of the securities and financial management industry and is currently a principal of Merriman Capital based in San Francisco. He began his career in retail brokerage with Morgan Stanley/Dean Witter, where he earned all of his relevant securities licenses. Mr. Rogers transitioned to fee based asset management at Belvedere Group, where he worked with high net worth clients and fiduciary accounts representing over $65MM in assets under management. He was also responsible for most of the firm's operations and compliance. Building upon his experience in financial services and operations, Mr. Rogers opened his own independent equity research and financial consulting firm in 1998. His business evolved and was rededicated in 2004 as ManageSource Financial Group, where he continued to offer analytics and research as a Registered Investment Advisor to institutions and individuals, and also expanded his corporate practice for public and private corporations. Mr. Rogers acted as interim CFO for a number of private companies seeking to engage the capital markets through direct equity registrations, private placements and mergers and acquisitions. Mr. Rogers received a Bachelor of Arts from Cornell University and holds FINRA Series 7, 66 and 24 licenses.

Chris Lahiji, President, LDMicro
Chris is President of LDMicro, a firm that tracks and reports on small cap firms. Since 2002, the firm has published an annual list of recommended stocks as well as comprehensive reports on select companies through out the year. LDMicro also produces an annual by-invitation only conference, which attracts promising growth companies to present to the investment banking community. Last December marked LDMicro's sixth annual conference and attracted over 140 presenting firms as well as many members of the investment community.

Jay Sethuram, Venture Partner, Satwik Ventures

Jay Sethuram has over 30 years of engineering/management experience in semiconductor and communications technology firms. Jay holds an MSEE from Washington State University and a BSEE from MIT Madras (India). He began his US career at Bell Laboratories, specializing in design and development of microprocessors. He then moved to Silicon Valley and worked at Micro Linear, National Semiconductors, NEC and Intel before becoming a serial entrepreneur co-founding several highly successful companies. The firms he co-founded, including Advancel, Cerent and Siara, were acquired for a combined total of over $13B, underscoring Jay's skills in creating and growing highly successful companies and achieving high investor returns. In addition to growing companies, he has participated in many venture funds both as an LP and a GP and has made many successful investments as an individual investor.

Jay has an uncanny ability to think through technical problems and come up with innovative and elegant solutions to many of the technical problems. He has an excellent ability to spot technology trends, which helped him develop plans ahead of the market for products in the companies he co-founded. Through his hands-on involvement, the products he architected became highly successful and the companies became excellent targets for IPO/acquisitions.

Even after many successes, his passion to discover great investment opportunities has not diminished. In fact, Jay continues to be involved and mentor many technology companies globally. He keeps abreast of the latest developments in technology, which helps him locate startups for potential investment through Satwik and help these companies achieve success similar to the companies he created previously. Jay is truly one of the great luminaries of Silicon Valley.
